Terms and Conditions

These terms and conditions form a contract between you, the client, and your Psychologist from London Trauma Specialists. Please read them and sign on the last page before your initial assessment session.

Client name:

Psychologist:

Initial Session

During the initial assessment session, we will discuss your difficulties and the reasons you are seeking help at this time. This will also be an opportunity for you to talk about your expectations for therapy and ask any questions you may have. Your psychologist will assess whether he/she can provide the help that you currently need or whether you may benefit from seeing another professional or organisation. If it is the opinion of your psychologist that you would benefit from an onward referral then this will be discussed with you at the end of your initial assessment session. If you and your psychologist agree to work together then you will come to an agreement about the time and frequency of ongoing sessions.

Please try your best to arrive at the start time agreed for all sessions, to ensure that you have the maximum time allocated to you by your Psychologist. Only the booked session time will be available (your Psychologist will often have another client waiting when your session ends).

Confidentiality

The information you share with London Trauma Specialists, and the notes made during the sessions, will remain confidential, within certain boundaries. This means that your psychologist will only share information with other parties if he/she becomes concerned that you, your child, or others (where relevant), are at risk of harm. Your psychologist will aim to talk to you about his/her concerns before sharing any information. If, however, your psychologist is concerned that discussing this would put you at more risk of harm (for example, of self-harm or suicide), he/she will speak to other parties without your consent. This is extremely rare and a legal obligation. For more information you can see the British Psychological Society 'Generic Professional Practice Guidelines', you can find the web address for this at the end of this document.

All qualified Clinical Psychologists are required to see a supervisor regularly as part of commitment to good practice and in keeping with professional duties as outlined by the British Psychological Society. Thus, your psychologist may discuss the work you do together with his/her supervisor, who is also bound by the above confidentiality agreement.

London Trauma Specialists will also inform your GP that you are receiving psychological therapy, and will send copies of letters and assessment or discharge reports to your GP. Please speak with your psychologist if you have any concerns about this.

Fees and Payment

The charge is £200 for an assessment and £140 per 1 hour therapy appointment (from 1st April 2019). Some of our clinicians offer a reduced rate, depending on availability and individual circumstances. Each hour includes 50 minutes of face-to-face meeting with 10 minutes for preparation and note taking undertaken by the psychologist. Fees are reviewed at the beginning of each financial year (April 1st).

Acceptable Methods of Payment: Cash, cheque or bank transfer

If you wish to pay by cheque or bank transfer then please discuss this with your Psychologist during your initial assessment (who will let you know who the cheque is payable to and/or provide you with the relevant bank details for the transfer).

Health Insurance

Some of the Psychologists at London Trauma Specialists are registered with the main health insurance companies as approved practitioners. Please enquire in advance of your initial assessment and check with your insurance company before starting sessions to make sure your policy is valid and that your sessions will be covered in full. You will be responsible for payment of all outstanding charges on your account, regardless of the cover you have. Please also check with your insurance company as to how many sessions are authorized.

Cancellations

Cancellation of appointments with at least 24 hours notice will not incur a charge. If appointments are cancelled with less than 24 hours notice, or if you do not attend your appointment, the full amount (£140) will be charged.

If your psychologist has to cancel an appointment, he/she will inform you as early as possible. You would not be charged for any appointments your psychologist cancels.

Contact between Appointments

If you need to contact your psychologist between appointments please do so by email or telephone. If you are calling to cancel an appointment, your psychologist will take the time the message is left for the notice given.
